Are You a Good Listener?

Have someone else read the story below aloud. Don't look at the questions on the next page until after the story has been read. Then, answer the questions without referring to the story.

You have decided to go to Harry's Movies to rent a couple of DVDs. It is cold and snowy outside. You get into your car, start the engine, and realize that you have to get out and scrape the windshield before you can leave. You stop at a stop sign and wait for a snowplow to finish pushing the snow off of the street.

You finally get to the rental store and choose a science fiction movie and a comedy movie. On the way home, you stop at Dan's Fantastic Burgers and get a cheeseburger, an order of onion rings, and a soft drink. When you get home, your parents say that you cannot watch the movies until you have finished your homework. You quickly eat your food and get busy doing your math and science homework. After you finish, you finally get to watch your movies.
